1. Introduction

To improve the employability of students through skill and quality based education, industrial exposure is required. One of the way to improve it, by appointing Professor of the Practice, Adjunct Faculty/ Resource persons in Institute-GCOEJ. The expectations from the professional education system have undergone a significant change over the last few years. The key thrust has been on improving the employability prospects of the graduates and also improving the quality and quantum of research. Therefore, it becomes imperative to involve experts, professionals and researchers from diverse fields to contribute to the emerging needs of the engineering education system. The Indian higher education system is poised to make itself more relevant to the needs of industry and employment opportunities keeping in mind the rapid changes in job requirements and needs of the economy. It is necessary that the courses to be offered should have active involvement of industry partners in governance, curriculum development, delivery of courses and assessment of learners. Acute shortage of quality faculty is widely felt in the system of higher education as a whole. However, it is felt more prominently in skill based courses. It is well realized that there is a lot of creative talent and intellectual resources available within the country that are not formally connected to the higher and technical education system. It is imperative that the expertise and experience of such individuals, who are outside the academic system, needs to be part of academic activities. This would enhance, strengthen and improve the quality of teaching, training and research.

The institute-GCOEJ is keen to implement NEP 2020 from academic year 2023-24. The necessary changes in the curricula and structure has been in place through various boards of studies, examination reforms, academic council etc. The NEP 2020 seeks to transform professional education by focusing on skill- based education to meet needs of the industry and the economy. To improve the skills of graduates (including multiple exit options with UG certificate, UG diploma, UG advanced diploma etc), learners are required to get sustainable knowledge and practical approach. Towards this, the UGC/AICTE has taken a new initiative to bring industry and other professional expertise into the academic institutions through a new category of positions called “Professor of Practice”, “Adjunct faculty”, “Resource Person”. This will help to take real world practices and experiences into the class rooms and also augment the faculty resources in higher education institutions. In turn, the industry and society will benefit from trained graduates equipped with the relevant skills.

2. Objectives:

- To develop a useful and viable collaboration between institutions and industry and enhancing quality of education and skills by involvement of academicians, scholars, practitioners, policymakers and skilled professionals in teaching, training, research and related services on regular basis;
- To attract distinguished individuals who have excelled in their field of specialization in Engineering Science and Technology, industry, into the academic arena, to enrich the overall learning processes by bringing external perspectives to regular teaching. Such interactions are expected to foster trans-disciplinary approach and synergize the outside 'real world' experience with the inside intellectual pursuits in the institute;

- To promote the interaction of skilled professionals with the learners and facilitate the imparting of industry relevant standards in skills, acceptable nationally, which could fulfill the need for skilled workforce and also to undertake R&D in the areas related to skill education & development, entrepreneurship and employability etc;
- To enable the institute to access the eminent teachers and researchers who have completed their formal association with the college, to participate in teaching, to collaborate and to stimulate research activities for quality research at M. Tech and Ph. D. levels; and to play mentoring and inspirational role;
- To recognize the skills of professionals in their respective areas of excellence irrespective of their academic qualifications to impart training to the learners of skill based vocational courses in Universities and Colleges.
- To develop courses and curriculum to meet the industry and societal needs and enable the HEIs to work with industry experts on joint research projects and consultancy services which will be mutually beneficial
